VIEWS OF SENATOR DAWES

He Talks About Topics of Political Interest.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Senator Dawes said to a Tribune reporter yesterday: "I do not think that the Republican members of the Senate have adopted any inflexible rule in regard to nominations. They will consider every nomination as it comes up on its individual merits, the same as they proposed to do before the adoption of the Edmunds' resolution. All agree that each Senator for himself shall be satisfied for what cause the removal is to take place. They are willing to remove any Republican for good cause, but they all feel it their duty to know for which of these causes the President desires the removal of a suspended officer will be made. Some Senators desire to carry their investigation further than others. Beyond that difference the Republicans in the Senate are practically a unit. As a general thing, I don't think the Democrats like Cleveland's appointments, but it would take a good deal to bring about a rupture between them and him, though they may lay it up for the future and pay it back, with interest in due time."

"I do not think," he continued, "that any tariff bill will reach the Senate at this session. If any such measure does reach the Senate it will not be returned to the House in any shape to meet the approval of the Democratic majority of that body. There does not seem to be any prospect of a change of the present silver law."

Although it is very evident that the President will be compelled to select a new Secretary of the Treasury, he may not do so for a time. Any haste in the matter would be deemed discourteous to Mr. Manning. The latter at the present time is unable to sign his name to a notice of resignation, nor will his physicians allow him to attend to any matter of business, no matter how trivial, because it is absolutely necessary that his mind be kept free from anything of that sort; but as soon as he recovers sufficiently it is expected that his resignation will be forthcoming. There is a belief that Secretary Whitney will at the proper time be transferred from the Navy Department to the Treasury, because of the general desire of New York men that the financial department of the Government should be managed by one of their number.

A general order has been issued by the War Department announcing the following assignments: Major General J. M. Schofield, to the division of the Atlantic; Major General A. H. Terry, to the division of the Missouri; Major General Howard to the division of the Pacific. Brigadier General Crook was to-day relieved from command of the Department of Arizona, and assigned to the Department of the Platte, formerly commanded by General Howard. Brigadier General N. A. Miles, now in command of the Department of the Missouri, has been assigned to the Department of Arizona.

The report of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee expresses the opinion, based on departmental estimates, that the new tariff bill will effect a reduction of between $22,000,000 and $24,000,000 in the revenues of the Government. A loss of $3,000,000 is expected as a result of placing wool on the free list; $11,000,000 on woolen products, and $5,000,000 on sugar.

The new tariff bill presented to the House yesterday, as agreed upon by the Committee of Ways and Means, puts wool upon the free list. This is a blow to the wool industry in America. But the Republican Senate may be relied upon to protect the wool-growers from this injury.

C. P. Huntington officially announces that the war of rates is not over, and there is no immediate prospect of settlement.

CLEVELAND OVERWORKED.

His Continuous Round of Duty Alarming His Friends.

A Washington dispatch says there is much comment and conjecture just now as to Mr. Cleveland's condition. That he is overworking himself is universally conceded. He brought to the labors of his office a much more robust vitality than Secretary Manning did, and there are no present indications that it has been seriously impaired. He remains a picture of health and energy, and goes about his daily labors with unflagging zeal. But the fact is that the President has gained more than 40 pounds of flesh during the past year. He rarely leaves the Executive Mansion. His mornings are given up to the most tiresome and monotonous of all work—receiving visitors. These people mob the Executive Mansion at all hours. They go for every variety of reason, and occupy the President's time on every conceivable question. His mind is continually harassed and his attention unremittingly claimed. He listens to innumerable solicitations, and is subjected to infinite boredom. As soon as this ordeal is over he escapes to his study, only to find it thronged with Senators, Congressmen, Government officers and special callers, and then the doleful wear and tear begins all over, and lasts until dinner. As soon as he dines he returns to his study and takes up the papers before him. Sometimes Cabinet officers call, sometimes Senators—always some one; and between these and his documents he remains hard at it until about midnight.

This is his unvarying programme. There is no relief. It goes on and on in one perpetual grind. Human nature cannot stand such a strain indefinitely. Furthermore, he vexes and harasses himself with work that he need not undertake—work that the most liberal construction of his responsibilities would absolve him from. Recently he sat up till 2 o'clock poring over some papers in connection with a third-rate Illinois Postoffice. He had heard about the contest incidentally, and took up the idea that he would like to go to the bottom of it. This is only one of a thousand cases. He loads himself down with work that subordinates ought to do. He draws up documents with his own hand which any competent corresponding clerk ought to be able to prepare, and he devotes hour after hour to digesting questions that a division chief should dispose of. In a word, Mr. Cleveland is wearing himself out and squandering his time and energies. His friends are becoming anxious and uneasy. They think he ought to take more rest and more exercise, and to be less voracious in seizing upon work which others might do as well.

The San Francisco Call and Bulletin offices have been declared "union offices." Sixty-eight printers out of 118 employed in those offices have been admitted as members of the Typographical Union. The cases of the remaining fifty are to be submitted to a joint committee of arbitration, whose decision will be final. It was agreed that these fifty printers should retain their positions until their cases have been debated upon and a decision rendered. All matters of dispute between the printers of the Call and Bulletin offices and the Typographical Union have under this arrangement been finally settled.

The pay-rolls of the Comstock mines for the month of March foot up $160,963. The above total shows an increase of $20,000 over the February pay-rolls. By including the sums disbursed to employees of the mills on the Carson river, Sixmile and Gold canyons, the March pay-rolls foot up nearly $220,000. This is good, but the Journal hopes the old lode will soon double the amount.

The Lyon Courier Times says: The Reno Journal has entered upon its thirtieth year. The daily is now twelve years old and the weekly extra is a well edited journal and always full of the latest news.

Right Hon. Wm. E. Foster, who was Chief Secretary for Ireland under the previous Gladstone Ministry is dead. He had been ill for some time and was 68 years of age.

The President yesterday afternoon sent to the Senate the name of Caleb W. West of Kentucky to be Governor of Utah.

THE LABOR QUESTION.

Carson Index.

If there is any one thing to be predicted upon the social upheaval now going on in the United States and Europe it is the predominance for years of the so-called Labor question in politics. It is evident that whether new parties are founded or not in our own country, the existing national organizations must adjust themselves speedily to the recently changed conditions. We find that some of the most prominent men in the nation are ready to break away from former political or rather personal affiliations in order to join heartily in the movement to place Labor upon its true plane as the real support of the National integrity and the general weal. In Pennsylvania it is proposed to run Grand Master Powderly of the Knights of Labor, for the next Governor ship. Everywhere the tendency seems to be that Labor must emerge from its present conditions and once more characterize our nation as an honest people. Capital has for years demoralized the moral sense of the people and has pushed the wage worker mere and more into a condition of hopelessness and dependence upon favor instead of leaving him untrammelled in his race for prosperity and a competence. The people everywhere have awakened to this fact, and in their alarm have organized with more or less completeness to turn the tide of affairs back to the normal status. We have every confidence in the power and wisdom of the people but are none the less conscious that reform is not to be accomplished without a struggle.

Capital will not willingly let go any vantage ground which it thinks it holds over the people. It seems to lack the power to look with a broad view to the general interests of the people and hence to its own real and ultimate good. Wealthy men ought not to think that their wealth is more unsafe or less easily acquired when the people are generally prosperous than when they are oppressed and discouraged. But they are nevertheless too often selfish and narrow in their views, and deny that justice to their fellows which would be so beneficial to all human society. Hence it is that when improvement or reform is demanded by the people generally, there is too much resistance from sources which ought kindly to concede the principle of "live and let live."

All political leaders and managers ought to yield at once to the general tendency to reform in the cause of honest labor. Each existing party should adopt the platforms upon which free laboring men can stand and give hearty support at the polls. If this is not done the likelihood is that before many years the friends of labor will have organized a party which will sweep the entire country. Let the question be taken up in time and honorably settled by honest men and true statesmen.

COMMISSIONER HAVENOR.

The Journal heartily endorses the annexed remarks of the Carson Appeal: Commissioner Havenor as Commissioner for Nevada at New Orleans is giving a fine account of his stewardship. When he received his appointment, the appointment was extensively and sharply criticized. Many clung to the idea that some prominent well-headed nobody who could strut about an exposition building would be better than ex-railroad conductor. The wisdom of the selection is made more apparent every day; Havenor is a quick-witted active man with a thorough knowledge of what is wanted of him, backed by good, hard horse-sense. He does not consider that he is on exhibition at New Orleans, but that the State of Nevada is in the foreground. He has also a very extensive practical knowledge of this State and its agricultural and mineral resources, and takes a glorious pride in them all. He has an eloquent tongue for the consumption of visitors to the Exposition, and you can rest assured that the natural advantages of this State lose nothing in the telling through Commissioner Havenor. By his active interest in the work he has secured over seventy premiums for this State, and not to put too fine a point on it, we are disposed to think that he has done Nevada as much actual good, in some respects more, than all political representatives in Washington during some years past.

He has had no political axes to grind, and is consequently not hampered in his work. His work will give Nevada an impetus that it has long needed, and which it should immediately take advantage of. It will pave the way for a State Immigration Society, fostered by State funds, to systematically scatter to the world the story of Nevada's almost boundless resources. We can wake from our sleep, and during the next few years, by good, earnest work, double the population of this State.

It is not necessary to lumber up this society with old political fight-words, but it is composed of practical, brave men, who will feel the responsibility of their duties and take a pride in their labors.

William Havenor, by all right, is entitled to the Presidentcy of such a society, and the Legislature should appropriate at least $10,000 to carry on its work. The money would be like bird seed upon the water, coming back in increased tax valuations as certain as the sun.

MORE INDEPENDENT CENTRAL RAILROADS.

S. F. Ballou.

The Portland Oregonian is authority for the statement that the Union Pacific Railroad Company has decided to push its branch road, known as the Oregon Short Line, into Portland—thus giving that line an independent route from Omaha to the navigable waters of the Pacific. It will strike directly across the direct line of the State of Oregon from its present terminus at Huntington to the upper Willamette Valley, thence north to Portland. The plan includes a southern branch, running down into Lake and Klamath counties of Southern Oregon. The current year, says the Oregonian, will be devoted to surveying and locating the line. Actual work will begin next Spring, and it is expected that the road will be open within two years. This announcement is in accordance with previous reports that the Union Pacific is seeking an outlet on the Pacific Coast, and that San Francisco is one of its objective points. Surveys are now being made in Deer Creek Pass, northeast of Chico, which are said to be in the interest of the Union Pacific, and are regarded as the preliminary work on the California end of its southern branch above mentioned. From Lake and Klamath counties, in Oregon, to Deer Creek Pass, in this State, will be an easy route, through a country of considerable natural resources. From Chico it is understood that the line will strike through Colusa county and across the Coast range to a junction with the Donahue Road, thence to Tiburon and San Francisco.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company is also not blind to the advantage of an independent through route, separate from the Union Pacific, and is seeking an Eastern connection to put it on an even footing with the Union Pacific. Gossip mentions a line running from Corinne on the Central Pacific, north-easterly, across the divide between Utah and Wyoming, thence down the valley of the Sweetwater to old Fort Fetterman, a distance of 275 miles. Both the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Valentine branch of the Northwestern are now pointing toward Fetterman, where a connection could be made at short notice, giving a through line to all Eastern points. This report gains support from the fact that prominent officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and of the Northwestern are now in this city and in conference with Central Pacific authorities. It is said that the steepest grades on the proposed new route will not exceed forty-six feet to the mile, that no short curves will be required, and that, if desired, a speed of fifty miles an hour may be maintained, and a considerable reduction of time thus established between the East and West.

If the various schemes mentioned materialize we shall soon have seven transcontinental lines, viz., the Canadian, the Northern, the Union, the Central, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Atlantic and Pacific and the Southern. Their business rivalry cannot fail to inure to the benefit of California in reduced fares and freights, and quickened immigration and settlement of the State.

State University.—The faculty of the State University have decided to adopt in the Preparatory Department for a beginning, the following text-books: Reed & Kellogg's Composition and Grammar, Part Second; Barnes' U. S. History; Gugat's Physical Geography; Gage's Natural Philosophy; Shepard's Chemistry; Westworth's Geometry; Groove's Elements of Latin; White's Elements of Greek. Applications for membership have doubled since the examination hour begun, and everything bids fair for a very successful opening.

There has been considerable talk about some grand inaugural ceremonies. Is it not about time, if class work is to commence on the 15th, that some arrangements are being made? If the institution is to have a send off, it ought to be done in good shape.

DAGGETT.—The Enterprise, of Sunday, publishes this: Our old-time citizen and ex-Minister to Hawaii, Rollin M. Daggett, since his return, last Monday, from California, with his wife and sister-in-law, Miss Blanch Hinds, has been stopping at the International. He finds a host of old-time friends yet on the Comstock to shake hands and smile with, and is at home again. He distinctly states that he is a candidate for United States Senator from Nevada, and proposes making a square fight for the nomination on the Republican ticket. How much show he has for it remains to be seen. The list now stands: Stewart, Fair, Daggett, Powning, Wren—thumb and four fingers—full hand, so to speak.

RAILROAD NEWS.—The Sierra Valley Leader says: The work of grading the first five miles of the Sierra Valley & Mohawk Railroad is now nearly completed and two miles of track has been laid. The grade is nearly to the Summit and will be rapidly pushed forward until Beckwith is reached. It is said that the first excursion train will reach that place by the 4th of July next. The railroad company are moving in the machinery for a large saw mill to be erected in Mohawk Valley. The company own a large tract of timber land in that vicinity. If this road could be extended down the Feather river to Oroville, it would be of immense benefit in developing the resources of Plumas county.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH.—The Candelaria True Fissure says that four men carelessly got into the giraffe on the third level at the Mount Diablo last Wednesday while the reel was unslutched without signaling the engineer. The giraffe at once started down the incline at a frightful rate of speed. The presence of mind of J. P. Harrington and Frank Mills, the engineer, in at once applying the brake, saved the men from a horrible death. The giraffe ran clear to the bottom of the incline, but its momentum was sufficiently checked to permit them to escape with a few bruises and a severe shaking up.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY.—New Books: Outlines of the World's History, Guyot Physical Geography and Outlines of Universal History, from Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., San Francisco; Third Report of U. S. Entomological Commission, 1880-82, Evans' Imports and Duties, 1867-83, Exports American Colonies, 1697-1789, Domestic Exports, 1790-1883, and Message and Documents Navy Department, Vols. I and II, from Senator J. G. Fair, Washington, D. C.; and Andrews Latin-English Lexicon from Father Maloney, Reno, Nevada.

THE BIGGEST YET.—According to the Sierra Valley Leader the Wilson Company's boring machine last week struck the biggest well yet obtained in Sierra Valley. It is less than 350 feet in depth, three inches in diameter, and flows 200 gallons per minute. The force is such that a solid stream of water is thrown up nearly twenty inches above the casing. The well is on the ranch of Antoine Lironchima, between Beckwith and Summit.

AN IMPORTANT STRIKE.—News comes from Spring City that rich ore has been struck in the shaft which is being sunk in the lower level of the Paradise Valley mine, about 140 feet below the present works. This strike is of great importance, as it shows the permanency of the mine, and proves that there is rich ore deep down under the present works.

New Nevada Incorporation.—The Virginia Chronicle says: The Comstock Mill and Mining Company was incorporated December 30, 1885, with a capital stock of $250,000. Senator John F. Jones, John W. Mackay and other leading mining men are leading members of the company. The recent transfer of the Eureka mill, Carson river, was made in order to perfect the arrangements of the new company. Another organization which will probably be heard from sooner or later in the Nevada Mill and Mining Company, which was incorporated March 4, 1885. It is understood that members of the Virginia City and Gold Hill Water Company are the parties principally interested in the latter.
